

Student Risk Managers Need You!

Glasgow Caledonian
University

Caledonian Business School, the largest in Scotland, has a number of Risk Management Students looking for summer work placements.

The students, who have usually studied risk management techniques and practice for 3 years, are able to undertake tasks and projects for a range of employers.

This scheme has proved extremely successful in recent years and we would be delighted to find the right student to suit your needs for any summer work/project you may have.

Payment and length of project is negotiable.
